In The Power of the Center, Arnheim uses a wealth of examples to consider the factors that determine the overall organization of visual form in works of painting, sculpture, and architecture. The Dynamics of Architectural Form explores the unexpected perceptual consequences of architecture with Arnheim's customary clarity and precision.

Arabic Administration in Norman Sicily Jeremy Johns 2002-10-07 In the late eleventh century, Sicily - originally part of the Islamic world - was captured by Norman, French and Italian adventurers, led by Roger de Hauteville. For the next 150 years, Roger and his descendants ruled the island and its predominantly Arabic-speaking Muslim population. Jeremy Johns' 2002 book represents a comprehensive account of the Arabic administration of Norman Sicily. While it has generally been assumed that the Normans simply inherited their Arabic administration from the Muslim governors of the island, the author uses the unique Sicilian Arabic documents to demonstrate that the Norman kings restructured their administration on the model of the contemporary administration of Fatimid Egypt. Controversially, he also suggests that, in doing so, their intention was not administrative efficiency but the projection of their royal image. This is a compelling and accessible account of the Norman rulers and how they related to their counterparts in the Muslim Mediterranean.

Muslims and Christians in Norman Sicily Dr Alexander Metcalfe 2014-01-21 The social and linguistic history of medieval Sicily is both intriguing and complex. Before the Muslim invasion of 827, the islanders spoke dialects of either Greek or Latin or both. On the arrival of the Normans around 1060 Arabic was the dominant language, but by 1250 Sicily was an almost exclusively Christian island, with Romance dialects in evidence everywhere. Of particular importance to the development of Sicily was the formative period of Norman rule (1061-1194), when most of the key transitions from an Arabic-speaking Muslim island to a 'Latin'-speaking Christian one were made. This work sets out the evidence for those changes and provides an authoritative approach that re-defines the conventional thinking on the subject.

Mazara/Māzar: nel ventre della città medievale (secoli VII-XV). Edizione critica degli scavi (1997) in via Tenente Gaspare Romano Alessandra

Molinari 2021-12-30 Il Progetto The Archaeology of Regime Change. Sicily in Transition. 6th-13th centuries (SICTRANSIT - ERC advanced grant 693600) ha consentito di studiare con un'ampia gamma di analisi archeologiche e scientifiche il prezioso contenuto di fosse, pozzi, latrine e silos scavati nel 1997 nel centro storico della città di Mazara in Sicilia. La ricchezza e diversità dei materiali ritrovati, l'integrità dei contesti di rinvenimento e la loro scansione cronologica (dalla fine del VII al XVI secolo) si sono rivelate preziose per ricostruire consumi, scambi, produzioni, abitudini alimentari, tabù religiosi in relazione a importanti cambiamenti sociali e culturali che hanno interessato la Sicilia col passare delle dominazioni bizantina, musulmana, normanna, sveva e aragonese. Le vicende materiali di Mazara, seconda città dopo Palermo per importanza in età islamica e influente sede vescovile con i Normanni, acquistano nuova luce con una lettura dal basso, a partire dai più umili resti della vita quotidiana. La rilevanza dei risultati ottenuti per questa importante città, ha consentito di allargare, rivedere e completare la conoscenza non solo della Sicilia medievale, ma per molti versi anche dell'area mediterranea centrale tra la fine dell'antichità e quella del medioevo. The project The Archaeology of Regime Change. Sicily in Transition. 6th-13th centuries (SICTRANSIT - ERC advanced grant 693600) has made it possible to study with a wide range of archaeological and scientific analyses the contents of pits, wells, latrines and silos excavated in 1997 in the historic centre of the city of Mazara in Sicily. The richness and diversity of the materials found, the integrity of the contexts in which they were unearthed and their chronological span (from the end of the 7th to the 16th century) proved invaluable in reconstructing consumption, trade, production, food habits and religious taboos in relation to the important social and cultural changes that affected Sicily through the periods of consecutive Byzantine, Muslim, Norman, Swabian and Aragonese government. The material history of Mazara, the second most important city after Palermo in the Islamic period and an influential bishopric under the Normans, is here illuminated from the bottom up, starting from the most humble remains of daily life. The relevance of the results obtained for this important city has made it possible to broaden, revise and enhance our knowledge not only of medieval Sicily, but in many ways also of the central Mediterranean area between the end of antiquity and the later Middle Ages.
