The Oxford Handbook of Neo-Latin Stefan Tilg 2015 From the dawn of the early modern period around 1400 until the eighteenth century, Latin was still the European language and its influence extended as far as Asia and the Americas. At the same time, the production of Latin writing exploded thanks to book printing and new literary and cultural dynamics. Latin also entered into a complex interplay with the rising vernacular languages. This Handbook gives an accessible survey of the main genres, contexts, and regions of Neo-Latin, as we have come to call Latin writing composed in the wake of Petrarch (1304-74). Its emphasis is on the period of Neo-Latin's greatest cultural relevance, from the fifteenth to the eighteenth centuries. Its chapters, written by specialists in the field, present individual methodologies and focuses while retaining an introductory character. The Handbook will be valuable to all readers wanting to orientate themselves in the immense ocean of Neo-Latin literature and culture. It will be particularly helpful for those working on early modern languages and literatures as well as to classicists working on the culture of ancient Rome, its early modern reception and the shifting characteristics of post-classical Latin language and literature. Political, social, cultural and intellectual historians will find much relevant material in the Handbook, and it will provide a rich range of material to scholars researching the history of their respective geographical areas of interest.

Taddeo Alderotti and His Pupils Nancy G. Siraisi 2019-02-19 Taddeo Alderotti was the most celebrated professor of medicine at Bologna in the late thirteenth century. His teaching involved close attention not merely to medicine itself but to all the scientific and philosophical learning of the time. His pupils, in turn, included some of the leading learned physicians in Italy in the early fourteenth century. In a study of the professional thought and practice of these physicians, Nancy Siraisi shows how their intellectual and medical achievements were integrated with the social and institutional context within which they lived. Focusing specifically on Taddeo Alderotti and six of his pupils, the author treats what is known of their lives, their teaching activities, their learned writings, their medical practice, and their broader moral outlook. She pays particular attention to the theoretical concepts of medical learning, the relationship of medicine to natural philosophy, the correlation of medical theory to medical practice, and the role of the physician as a citizen. Nancy G. Siraisi is Professor of History at Hunter College of the City University of New York. Originally published in 1981. The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print-on-demand technology to again make available previously out-of-print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press. These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions. The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905.

Constructing a Mind Antonio Imbasciati 2006-09-27 Can the Protomentality System provide a new foundation for psychoanalytic theory? Constructing a Mind draws on psychoanalytic theories of mind and recent developments in cognitive science to present the Protomentality System, a new and original explanatory theory of the development of the human mind. This book aims to move psychoanalytic theory away from its origins in Freud's theory, towards a model which gives priority to cognition and memory. This, Antonio Imbasciati argues, will make possible a successful and productive integration of psychoanalysis with other areas of psychology. Subjects covered include: The mind as an information-processing system

Constructing the system: from fetus to baby, child, and finally adult
The caregiver relationship as a decoding system for information processing
The paranoid-schizoid metabolism of information
Memory of functions and memory traces of affects
Internal information generated by the system
The depressive position and learning to know
Reparation and thought. This thoughtful and thorough account of cognitive development provides a conceptual framework that succeeds in making some of the more complex areas of psychoanalytic theory more intelligible. Constructing a Mind will be of great interest to psychoanalysts, psychotherapists and cognitive psychologists, especially those with an interest in neuropsychology and neonatal development.

Cooking, Eating, Thinking Deane W. Curtin 1992-08-22 Philosophy has often been criticized for privileging the abstract; this volume attempts to remedy that situation. Focusing on one of the most concrete of human concerns, food, the editors argue for the existence of a philosophy of food. The collection provides various approaches to the subject matter, offering new readings of a number of texts—religious, philosophical, anthropological, culinary, poetic, and economic. Included are readings ranging from Plato's Phaedo and Verses of Sen-No-Rikyu to Peter Singer's "Becoming a Vegetarian" and Jean-François Revel's Culture and Cuisine. This reader will have particular appeal for philosophers working in social theory, feminist theory, and environmental ethics, and for those working on alternative approaches to such traditional subject areas as epistemology, aesthetics, and metaphysics.

Methods of Comparative Law P. G. Monateri 2012-01-01 Comprising an array of distinguished contributors, this pioneering volume of original contributions explores theoretical and empirical issues in comparative law. The innovative, interpretive approach found here combines explorative scholarship and research with thoughtful, qualitative critiques of the field. The book promotes a deeper appreciation of classical theories and offers new ways to re-orient the study of legal transplants and transnational codes. Methods of Comparative Law brings to bear new thinking on topics including: the mutual relationship between space and law; the plot that structures legal narratives, identities and judicial interpretations; a strategic approach to legal decision making; and the inner potentialities of the 'comparative law and economics' approach to the field. Together, the contributors reassess the scientific understanding of comparative methodologies in the field of law in order to provide both critical insights into the traditional literature and an original overview of the most recent and purposive trends. A welcome addition to the lively field of comparative law, Methods of Comparative Law will appeal to students and scholars of law, comparative law and economics. Judges and practitioners will also find much of interest here.

Formalising Natural Languages with Nooj 2014 Johanna Monti 2015 This volume is composed of 22 peer-reviewed contributions selected from among the 52 presentations submitted for the 2014 International NooJ Conference held at the University of Sassari, Italy. NooJ is a linguistic development environment that allows linguists to formalize a wide range of linguistic phenomena, and then test, adapt, share and accumulate each elementary description so as to build linguistic modules, that is, structured libraries of linguistic resources. NooJ is also used as a corpus processor that can launch sophisticated queries over large corpora of texts, in order to produce various results, including concordances, statistical analyses, information extraction, and automatic translation. NooJ is used in many research centers all over the world, and linguistic modules are available for more than 20 languages. NooJ is also used by a growing number of software companies to develop various Natural Language Processing applications. Johanna Monti is Associate Professor at the University of Sassari, Italy, where she teaches Translation Studies, Computational Linguistics, and Machine-Translation and Computer-Aided Translation. She has acted as a member of the scientific committees of various renowned international conferences on Natural Language Processing, and as external evaluator for the Italian Ministry for Education, Universities and Research (MIUR) and the Horizon 2020 programme.

Handbook of Perinatal Clinical Psychology Rosa Maria Quatraro 2020-03-26 The book examines the major issues in perinatal clinical psychology with the presence of theoretical information and operational indications, through a biopsychosocial approach. The multiplicity of scientific information reported makes this book both a comprehensive overview on the major perinatal mental health disorders and illnesses, and a clinical guide. It covers perinatal clinical psychology through a journey of 15 chapters, putting the arguments on a solid theoretical basis and reporting multiple operational indications of great utility for daily clinical practice. It has well documented new evidence bases in the field of clinical psychology that have underpinned the conspicuous current global and national developments in perinatal mental health. As such, it is an excellent resource for researchers, policy makers, and practitioners - in fact, anyone and everyone who wishes to understand and rediscover, in a single opera, the current scientific and application scenario related to psychological health during pregnancy and after childbirth.

Phenomenology in Italy Federica Buongiorno 2019-12-24 This book features a theoretical depiction of the Italian phenomenological tradition. It brings together the main Italian phenomenologists of the present to discuss the positions and theories of the most important Italian phenomenologists of the past. Those profiled include Antonio Banfi, Sofia Vanni Rovighi, Enzo Paci, Dino Formaggio, Giuseppe Semerari, Enzo Melandri, Paolo Bozzi, Carlo Sini, Giovanni Piana and Paolo Parrini. This collection shows not only the variety of perspectives but also the inner consistency, peculiarity and originality of the tradition. Moreover, the contributors connect continental and analytical traditions, the scientific approach and existentialism. Italian phenomenology, the rise of which dates back to Antonio Banfi's writings on Husserl in 1923, proves to be from its very beginning, a relational philosophy. It is a philosophy that is capable, precisely by means of its method, of developing actual forms of communication and exchange among the different sciences. This book will provide graduate students and researchers with unique insights into the Italian school of phenomenological thought.

Bisexuality in the Ancient World Eva Cantarella 2002-01-01 In this readable and thought-provoking history of bisexuality in the classical age, Eva Cantarella draws on the full range of sources--from legal texts, inscriptions, and medical documents to poetry and philosophical literature--to reconstruct and compare the bisexual cultures of Athens and Rome. Reviews of the earlier edition: "Cantarella presents the ancient evidence in a straightforward fashion, draws insightful comparisons between heterosexuality and homosexuality, and elucidates the larger cultural context of erotic experience. With its wide scope the book speaks to the classicist, the layman with an interest in antiquity, the student of sexuality, and even to the unabashed seeker of piquant anecdotes." --John F. Makowski, Classical Journal "An important study that is destined to take its place next to the classic works of Foucault and Pomeroy." --Alan Mendelson, History: Reviews of New Books "Offers a valuable, close-in reassessment of intricate evidence, freshly researched, readable, and open-minded." --Alan Sinfield, Gay Times "This is a book I recommend for all students of sexology."--Milton Diamond, Journal of Psychology & Human Sexuality "Easily the best book on the topic." --John Buckler, Historian

Conditions Handsome and Unhandsome Stanley Cavell 2018-01-11 In these three lectures, Cavell situates Emerson at an intersection of three crossroads: a place where both philosophy and literature pass; where the two traditions of English and German philosophy shun one another; where the cultures of America and Europe unsettle one another. "Cavell's 'readings' of Wittgenstein and Heidegger and Emerson and other thinkers surely deepen our understanding of them, but they do much more: they offer a vision of what life can be and what culture can mean. . . . These profound lectures are a wonderful place to make [Cavell's] acquaintance."—Hilary Putnam

101 modi per interpretare la tua scrittura e quella degli altri Francesco Rende 2011-04-19 È possibile capire chi siamo da come scriviamo? La nostra grafia svela anche quello che cerchiamo di nascondere? Se per Christian Dior «il profumo di una donna ci dice di lei più di quanto non faccia la sua grafia», per il saggista Lance Morrow la storia della manoscrittura è «l'encefalogramma della nostra civiltà». Gli esseri umani sono da sempre interessati non solo a ciò che scrivono ma anche al modo in cui lo fanno, perché hanno da sempre sospettato che questo riveli non solo la propria personalità, ma anche i più reconditi cambiamenti del proprio animo. La grafologia è una disciplina antica che trova solidi fondamenti tra la fine dell'Ottocento e l'inizio del Novecento. Ci dice non solo chi siamo, ma anche chi vorremmo essere, cosa potremmo diventare, e cosa una parte di noi cerca di nascondere all'altra. Proviamo a forgiare la nostra scrittura, ma al tempo stesso ne siamo plasmati, così come cerchiamo di cambiare il nostro carattere ma al tempo stesso ne siamo determinati. Se conoscere sé stessi è il primo passo per riscrivere il proprio destino, la grafologia ci aiuta a compiere i primi passi per diventare ciò che siamo. E ciò che, in fondo in fondo, avremmo sempre voluto essere. Che cosa svela la nostra grafia? Possiamo capire meglio gli altri analizzando la loro scrittura? «Non perdere mai l'occasione di vedere qualcosa di bello, perché la bellezza è la scrittura di Dio.» Ralph Waldo Emerson «Francesco Rende, grafologo di professione, ha scritto un libro grazie al quale anche i profani potranno smascherare pregi e difetti, lati oscuri del carattere di colleghi e amici. Per conoscersi e conoscerci.» Il Giornale I tratti della personalità che è possibile individuare: Spontaneità e sincerità - rapidità e velocità di pensiero - energia, emotività e sensibilità - comprensione, giudizio e ragionamento - egoismo e altruismo - duttilità mentale Francesco Rende Nato a Roma nel 1975, si è laureato in Filosofia e in Psicologia e ha conseguito un dottorato di ricerca in Bioetica. Lavora come consulente e perito grafologo per il Tribunale Civile e Penale di Roma, ed è autore di numerosi articoli specialistici in ambito grafologico. Come psicologo si è specializzato in particolare nel Disturbo da Deficit di Attenzione in età adulta. Con la Newton Compton ha pubblicato 101 modi per interpretare la tua scrittura e quella degli altri, Come la filosofia può salvarti la vita e Manuale di autodifesa verbale.

Manuale di autodifesa verbale Francesco Rende 2014-11-20 Hai degli argomenti validi ma non riesci a esporli in modo efficace? La dialettica non è proprio il tuo forte? Ecco il manuale che fa per te! Quante volte siamo rimasti senza parole di fronte a una situazione sconvolgente, una persona maleducata, un'accusa ingiusta o un capo arrogante? E quante volte abbiamo pensato: «Se potessi tornare indietro, ora saprei cosa dire»? Poi però, quando serve, le parole ci restano sempre sulla punta della lingua o ci muoiono in bocca per timidezza, per buona educazione, o semplicemente per mancanza di prontezza... Questo Manuale di autodifesa verbale vuole aiutarci in simili circostanze, e fornirci utili e preziosi strumenti per capire i nostri errori e interagire al meglio con gli altri nella vita di coppia e in famiglia, in ufficio e con gli amici. Attraverso l'esposizione dei concetti base della logica, della retorica e della psicologia, e dei principali errori di pensiero e ragionamento, Francesco Rende ci offre una serie di semplici esempi pratici, tratti dalla vita di tutti i giorni, dall'attualità e dalla storia della filosofia, per imparare a ragionare meglio e a rispondere agli altri in maniera efficace. Francesco Rende laureato in Filosofia e in Psicologia e dottore di ricerca in Bioetica, lavora come consulente e perito grafologo per il Tribunale Civile e Penale di Roma, come consulente di parte per privati e come traduttore per diverse case editrici. Con la Newton Compton ha pubblicato 101 modi per interpretare la tua scrittura e quella degli altri, Come la filosofia può salvarti la vita e Manuale di autodifesa verbale.

On Paedophilia Cosimo Schinaia 2020-06-16 This book deepens the communicative dynamics by which even through the mass media the paedophile has become the plague-spreader. It is an attempt to underline that only an integrative approach can give an appropriate answer to the clinical complexity characterising paedophilic pictures.

Problems of Science Federigo Enriques 1914 Purchase of this book includes free trial access to www.million-books.com where you can read more than a million books for free. This is an OCR edition with typos. Excerpt from book: I. INTRODUCTION. 1. THE SPECIAL PROBLEMS AND GENERAL IDEAS OF SCIENCE A DOUBLE fatality hangs over one who has consecrated his days to science. If he would contribute to the advancement of science, he must prepare himself first of all by a patient study of the thousands of details which constitute its technique; he must learn the results obtained by numberless laborers whose researches tend toward the same aim. He must master their conceptions and subject them to a new criticism. This work so engrosses the attention of the investigator that he has little time left for casting a glance over the branches of science which are developing beside him. Yet this necessity also weighs upon his soul If on the one hand he ought to study special problems, on the other, he cannot exempt himself from considering the ends set before special research by rising to a general outlook which shall command the view of a broader scientific basis. This double necessity causes a conflict of tendencies, and this conflict in our system of production results in a loss of time and of work from which the intellectual world suffers. Most investigators, if they are not rightly directed, shut themselves up in a narrow circle and fall into a blind empiricism. Others lose themselves in the region of confused generalities, while a few finer spirits find the way for themselves, and often must win again by fresh efforts that which they should have a right to expect as the outcome of the completed work of their companions in labor. But the age of heroes, that of Descartes or Leibniz, whose genius opened all the doors of science, seems closed forever The conquests of the past weigh upon the present and upon the future. And if it is permissible to hope that a happier use of our intellectual powe...

Prefaces to the Diaphora Peter Carravetta 1991 The central concern of these eight studies and essays is the understanding and critique of culture at the shifty boundaries between the Modern and the Postmodern epochs. The author contends that what needs to be addressed is the very abyss, the "spacetime" between the Modern and the Postmodern worldviews, as well as the tension between aesthetics and ethics, critical discourse and the creative arts, in an effort to rethink multireferential processes of signification. The keystone of the book is Carravetta's notion of Diaphoristics, a theory of interpretation as dialogue. Diaphora, or difference, refers to the ancient quarrel between poetry and philosophy and signifies the movement between asymmetrical or heterogeneous forms of discourse that have, both historically and speculatively, borne the transfer of meaning from one semantic/hermeneutic field to another. The author focuses on the necessary risk and duplicity of criticism and develops nonagonistic models based on figuration and rhetorical dynamics. In two other chapters, the author steps back to reassess, in terms of the diaphora, the diverging notions of Postmodernity by the continental philosophers Lyotard and Vattimo. The collection ends with an essay on the long-overdue conversation between Vico and Heidegger.
