The Young Gardener Clare Bradley 1999 Children are keener on gardening than ever before, according to a survey conducted by the Royal Horticultural Society. Everyone gets a thrill from seeing tiny seeds develop into fat, green seedlings; there is also the sheer pleasure of being outdoors and allowed to get dirty. However, if first attempts don't work, it is easy to be put off. The answer is The young gardener, every budding gardener's helping hand.

The Young Gardener's Assistant Thomas Bridgeman 2015-06-16 Excerpt from The Young Gardener's Assistant: In Three Parts Containing Catalogues of Garden and Flower Seed, With Practical Directions Under Each Head for the Cultivation of Culinary Vegetables and Flowers; Also, Directions for Cultivating Fruit Trees, the Grape Vine, &C., To Which Is Added, a Calen It is presumed, that this edition of the "Young Gardener's Assistant," will be found generally useful to such as may wish to superintend, or take the management of their own gardens. The Authors object, as stated in the Preface to the first edition, has been satisfactorily accomplished, which the following statement of facts will show: One hundred and fifty copies of that edition were retailed, at the seed store of Messrs. Thorburn Sons, within a month after it was published, and subsequently, upwards of six hundred. - Messrs. Smith & Co., and other Seedsmen in New-York, have also been successful in circulating many hundreds of them, and the author has been gratified by learning, that the publisher of the last edition placed upwards of six hundred copies in the hands of the public, within three months after they came from the press. The author might here cite the opinions of many practical gardeners in favour of the work, but after the encouragement given to previous editions, he is perfectly willing that the present one should speak for itself. Indeed, to enumerate all the commendations passed on this humble attempt to promote useful knowledge, would exceed our limits. Suffice it to state, that the work has been respectfully noticed and recommended to public patronage, by the editors of the following periodicals: The New York Advocate and Journal, American, Commercial, Courier and Enquirer, Evening Post, Gazette, Standard and Traveller, the New-York Farmer, the American Farmer, and the Albany Argus, besides many of those periodical publications, devoted to agricultural pursuits, in different parts of the country. It appears from an article in the New-York Farmer and Horticultural Repository, that this little work has been noticed in France. The editor informs us, in page 295 of the 4th volume, dated Nov.10, 1831, that one of the leading articles in the second number of the present volume of the 'Annales de L'Institute Royal Horticole de Fromont' is a long notice of the Young Gardeners Assistant, by Mr. Thomas Bridgeman, of this city. The editor, Le Chevalier Soulange Bodin, speaks of the little work in very commendable terms." About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. The Humane Gardener Nancy Lawson 2017-04-18 In this eloquent plea for compassion and respect for all species, journalist and gardener Nancy Lawson describes why and how to welcome wildlife to our backyards. Through engaging anecdotes and inspired advice, profiles of home gardeners throughout the country, and interviews with scientists and horticulturalists, Lawson applies the broader lessons of ecology to our own outdoor spaces. Detailed chapters address planting for wildlife by choosing native species; providing habitats that shelter baby animals, as well as birds, bees, and butterflies; creating safe zones in the garden; cohabiting with creatures often regarded as pests; letting nature be your garden designer; and encouraging natural processes and evolution in the garden. The Humane Gardener fills a unique niche in describing simple principles for both attracting wildlife and peacefully resolving conflicts with all the creatures that share our world.

Gardening in Eden Arthur T. Vanderbilt II 2007-03-13 "Though an old man," Thomas Jefferson wrote at Monticello, "I am but a young gardener." Every gardener is. In Gardening in Eden, we enter Arthur Vanderbilt's small enchanted world of the garden, where the old wooden trestle tables of a roadside nursery are covered in crazy quilts of spring color, where a catbird comes to eat raisins from one's hand, and a chipmunk demands a daily ration of salted cocktail nuts. We feel the oppressiveness of endless winter days, the magic of an old-fashioned snow day, the heady, healing qualities of wandering through a greenhouse on a frozen February afternoon, the restlessness of a gardener waiting for spring. With a sense of wonder and humor on each page, Arthur Vanderbilt takes us along with him to discover that for those who wait, watch, and labor in the garden, it's all happening right outside our windows.

Freedom's Gardener Myra B. Young Armstead 2013-06-22 "Beautifully researched, bursting with detail." —New York Times "Recommended for historians of antebellum America or the social aspects of horticulture and for those interested in historical diaries. Incipient researchers will learn the differences among term, life, and wage slaves and much else." —Library Journal In 1793 James F. Brown was born a slave, and in 1868 he died a free man. At age 34 he ran away from his native Maryland to pass the remainder of his life as a gardener to a wealthy family in the Hudson Valley. Two years after his escape and manumission, he began a diary which he kept until his death. In Freedom's Gardener, Myra B. Young Armstead uses the apparently small and domestic details of Brown's diaries to construct a bigger story about the transition from slavery to freedom. In this first detailed historical study of Brown's diaries, Armstead utilizes Brown's life to illuminate the concept of freedom as it developed in the United States in the early national and antebellum years. That Brown, an African American and former slave, serves as such a case study underscores the potential of American citizenship during his lifetime. Myra B. Young Armstead is Professor of History at Bard College. Her books include "Lord, Please Don't Take Me in August": African Americans in Newport and Saratoga Springs, 1870-1930 and Mighty Change, Tall Within: Black Identity in the Hudson Valley.
