L'invenzione del Sahel Jean-Loup Amselle 2023-09-08T00:00:00+02:00 Con il termine arabo "sahel" - letteralmente "bordo del deserto" - s'intende quella fascia di territorio africano che attraversa orizzontalmente tutto il continente, fungendo da area di passaggio tra l'arido deserto del Sahara a Nord e la fertile savana arborata a Sud. Secondo Jean-Loup Amselle, tra i massimi antropologi contemporanei, a questa categoria geografica è stata associata una questione socio-culturale e politica del tutto arbitraria: il Sahel non esiste e nasce esclusivamente all'interno del contesto coloniale francese. Un tempo il territorio era attraversato dagli imperi Ghana, Mali e Songhai, che mettevano in comunicazione l'Africa subsahariana con le coste del Mediterraneo. Sulle rotte commerciali di Timbuctù, Djenné e Kong viaggiavano le carovane che trasportavano l'oro in Europa e gli schiavi in direzione del mondo arabo-musulmano. A questo asse Nord-Sud, con la colonizzazione francese del continente africano, se ne sovrappose un altro da Oriente a Occidente. Secondo Jean-Loup Amselle, è proprio a questa cesura storica, politica e culturale che vanno imputati i problemi che interessano oggi il Sahel e tutto il continente africano.

Contemporary Collaborative Consumption Isabel Cruz 2018-05-25 This book provides critical perspectives on contemporary collaborative consumption, a recent societal phenomenon shaking up previously fixed socio-economic categories such as the producer and the consumer. The contributors discuss the role of trust and reciprocity in collaborative consumption through seven case studies. The chapters advance debates on the contradictions of positioning collaborative consumption as possible solutions for a more sustainable development and exacerbating new forms of inequalities and injustice. The book contributes a nuanced appraisal of social and economic activity for reflecting socio-technological changes in contemporary societies.

Of Bodies and Symptoms Sylvie Fainzang 2011-06-20 The question of the social treatment of the body and its transformations emerges in relation to issues of varying types (economic, therapeutic, ideological, cultural, aesthetic, commercial, technical). This book examines the various ways of managing bodily symptoms or transformations and the social stakes and systems of knowledge which relate to them, both on the medical and social level. The contributions provide analyses that concern a broad range of countries. Through the themes it tackles and the subjects it examines, this book reveals both the universal nature of the questions it asks, and the evolution of the objects and approaches of anthropology itself.

Mapping Urban Spaces Lamberto Amistadi 2021-11-21 Mapping Urban Spaces focuses on medium-sized European cities and more specifically on their open spaces from psychological, sociological, and aesthetic points of view. The chapters illustrate how the characteristics that make life in medium-sized European cities pleasant and sustainable - accessibility, ease of travel, urban sustainability, social inclusiveness - can be traced back to the nature of that space. The chapters develop from a phenomenological study of space to contributions on places and landscapes in the city. Centralities and their meaning are studied, as well as the social space and its complexity. The contributions focus on history and theory as well as concrete research and mapping approaches and the resulting design applications. The case studies come from countries around Europe including Poland, Italy, Greece, Germany, and France, among others. The book will be of interest to students, scholars, and practitioners in architecture, urban planning, and landscape architecture.

Thinking Italian Animals D. Amberson 2014-09-18 This bracing volume collects work on Italian writers and filmmakers that engage with nonhuman animal subjectivity. These contributions address 3 major strands of philosophical thought: perceived borders between man and animals, historical and fictional crises, and human entanglement with the nonhuman and material world.

Cultural Dimensions of the User Massimo Negrotti 2005 The concept of the user is not a well-established sociological concept even though the user is omnipresent in our culture as someone who uses a device, a machine, the internet or a public service. Due to the close relationship between man and technology user studies have become very important. The papers assembled in this volume were presented at the Vth International Conference on «The Culture of the Artificial» - The User of the Artificial (Ascona Switzerland, Monte Verità, 23-25 April 2004). They deal with various aspects of the figure of the user.

Urban Informality Maria Vittoria Ferroni 2023-05-29 This book analyzes the informal practices of contemporary cities through a close dialogue between different research perspectives, with the shared goal of giving voice to informality and evaluating its benefits and potential in a multidimensional key of social factors. Recently, the human sciences have seen the emergence of this new term "informality," at first sight in conflict with their function of giving order and form to social phenomena. A term with which, in this book, the authors, having as reference the Italian and European experience, specifically identify those unsatisfied social demands and those collective actions "from below" that aim at the recovery of urban space and the renewal of its organization, often not following the trajectories of legality and institutions. By means of a close dialogue between different areas of social research, this book attempts to establish the different declinations and applications of the term, evaluating the causes and effects, benefits, and potential of the phenomena attributable to it, within a multidimensional analysis that calls into question the regeneration and collective use of spaces, political-institutional confrontation and conflict, legal innovation, and social-economic benefits.

Integrated Evaluation for the Management of Contemporary Cities Giulio Mondini 2018-06-06 This book highlights a selection of the best papers presented at the 2016 SIEV conference "The Laudato sì Encyclical Letter and Valuation. Cities between Conflict and Solidarity, Decay and Regeneration, Exclusion and Participation", which was held in Rome, Italy, in April 2016, and brought together experts from a diverse range of fields - economics, appraisal, architecture, energy, urban planning, sociology, and the decision sciences - and government representatives. The book is divided into four parts: Human Ecology: Values and Paradigms; Integral Ecology and Natural Resource Management; Intergenerational Equity; and How to Enhance Dialogue and Transparency in Decision-making Processes. Cities are where 72% of all Europeans live, and this percentage is expected to rise to 80% by 2050. Given this trend towards urbanization, cities are continuously growing, which also entails a growing risk of social segregation, lack of security and mounting environmental problems. All too often, today's cities have to cope with social and environmental crises, shifting the European urban agenda towards regeneration processes. Urban regeneration is more complex than merely renovating existing buildings, as it also involves social and environmental problems, inhabitants' quality of life, protecting tangible and intangible cultural resources, innovation and business.

Un posto nel mondo. Donne e migranti e pratiche di scrittura Simona Miceli 2019-06-03 L'intreccio tra la migrazione in Italia e la pratica della scrittura letteraria in lingua italiana accomuna le donne le cui storie, raccolte in lunghe interviste biografiche, sono presentate e analizzate in questo volume. La migrazione può configurarsi come esperienza di sradicamento e di solitudine, anche in ragione delle forme di esclusione attive nella società d'approdo. Ma la pratica della scrittura, nella nuova lingua, può essere strumento attraverso il quale costruire nuove appartenenze e sentire di poter avere, ancora, «un posto nel mondo», come afferma una delle donne intervistate. Le biografie raccolte mettono in crisi l'immaginario egemonico sulle "donne migranti", popolato da stereotipi in cui si intersecano assunti razzisti, sessisti ed eurocentrici. L'esperienza della scrittura in migrazione viene interpretata e discussa come una pratica di soggettivazione, una pratica cioè attraverso la quale le donne migranti cessano di essere soggetti narrati e si rendono soggetti narranti, potendo così contribuire a ri-nominare e ri-significare i processi di costruzione e reificazione dell'alterità. «Questo è un libro in cui la sociologia è vivente. Promuove e articola la percezione di uno scarto fra le esperienze di chi questo mondo lo abita e i modi in cui le narrazioni più correnti le deformano. Promuove e articola curiosità e critica. È un libro molto bello. Io spero che lo leggano in tanti». Dalla Prefazione di Paolo Jedlowski

viene rapidamente cancellata dagli atlanti e rubricata nei manuali di storia alla voce "dittatura". La Deutsche Demokratische Republik era stata per² anche una Repubblica delle lettere, il paese d'elezione di molti scrittori scampati al nazismo, come Brecht, Anna Seghers, Heinrich Mann e Arnold Zweig. Nello "stato socialista in terra tedesca" gli scrittori erano chiamati a partecipare alla costruzione di una societ¹ nuova, senza precedenti, all'invenzione del futuro. Oggi conosciamo fatti che smascherano quell'invenzione come inganno, illusione: la censura e l'autocensura, la collaborazione di alcuni scrittori con la Stasi, l'emigrazione di altri nella Germania federale. Ma invenzione del futuro ha significato anche altro: creazione di strutture, disegno di utopie, esplorazione della fantasia. Nella DDR si sono formati - tra consenso e dissenso - autori come Uwe Johnson e Christa Wolf, Heiner Mi¹ller e Volker Braun. Ancora oggi forme e contenuti di questa letteratura segnano l'opera di alcuni tra pi¹ rilevanti autori della Germania riunificata, da Ingo Schulze a Uwe Tellkamp. Urban Planning as a Trading Zone Alessandro Balducci 2013-03-27 'Trading zone' is a concept introduced by Peter Galison in his social scientific research on how scientists representing different sub-cultures and paradigms have been able to coordinate their interaction locally. In this book, Italian and Finnish planning researchers extend the use of the concept to different contexts of urban planning and management, where there is a need for new ideas and tools in managing the interaction of different stakeholders. The trading zone concept is approached as a tool in organizing local platforms and support systems for planning participation, knowledge production, decision making and local conflict management. In relation to the former theses of communicative planning theory that stress the ideals of consensus, mutual understanding and universal reason, the 'trading zone approach', outlined in this book, offers a different perspective. It focuses on the potentiality to coordinate locally the interaction of different stakeholders without requiring the deeper sharing of understandings, values and motives between them. Galison's commentary comes in the form of the book's final chapter.

Enabling Urban Alternatives Jens Kaae Fisker 2018-12-08 This book asks how thinking, governing, performing, and producing the urban differently can assist in enabling the creation of alternative urban futures. It is a timely response to the ongoing crises and pressing challenges that inhabitants of cities, towns, and villages worldwide are faced with in the midst of what has been widely dubbed as 'an urban age'. Starting from the premise that current urban development patterns are unsustainable in every sense of the word, the book explores how alternative patterns can be pursued by the wide variety of actors - from governments and international institutions to slum-dwellers and social movements - involved in the on-going production of our shared urban condition. The challenges addressed include exclusion and segregation; persisting poverty and increasing inequality; urban sprawl and changing land use patterns; and the spatial frames of urban policy. As such the book appeals to urban scholars, policy makers, activists, and others concerned with shaping the future of our cities and of urban life in general. Additionally, it is of interest to students in urban planning, architecture and design, human geography, urban sociology, and related fields.

Learning from Memory Bianca Maria Pirani 2011-05-25 This challenging book, with excellent contributions from international social scientists, focuses on the link between body and memory that specifically refers to the use of digital technologies. Neuroscientists know very well that human beings automatically and unconsciously organize their experience in their bodies into spatial units whose confines are established by changes in location, temporality and the interactive elements that determine it. Our memories might be less reliable than those of the average computer, but they are just as capacious, much more flexible, and even more user-friendly. The aim of the present book is to outline, by the body, what we know of the sociology of memory. The authors and editors believe that an analysis at the sociological level will prove valuable in throwing light on accounts of human behavior at the interpersonal and social level, and will play an important role in our capacity to understand the neurobiological factors that underpin the various types of memory. This book is an ideal resource for advanced and postgraduate students in social sciences, as well as practitioners in the field of Information and Communication technologies. Scholarly and accessible in tone, Learning from Memory: Body, Memory and Technology in a Globalizing World will be read and enjoyed by members of the general public and the professional audience alike.

Perspectives on Environmental Management and Technology in Asian River Basins David Higgitt 2011-10-14 Asian river basins are undergoing rapid transformation. This volume considers the implications of the environmental change-development nexus for water management, river health and hazard awareness. As Biswas and Tortajada (2011) have recently commented, water management in Asia will likely change more in the next twenty years than in the last 2000 years. Critical environmental trends include decreasing flows of water and sediment due to dam construction and increased water extraction, land use change (especially forest removal), encroachment and degradation of floodplain and wetland environments, increased water demand and concerns about water security, urban expansion and associated pollution of rivers and contamination of groundwater reserves. These challenges are being reframed by new approaches to water management which represent a transition from engineering-dominated approaches towards integrated water management, from technology transfer to adaptive technologies. The volume comprises an introduction and five chapters. Brierley and Callum reframe approaches to river repair within emerging theories of in ecology and earth science which regard nature as a complex adaptive system replete with inherent uncertainties. These ideas are mirrored in the four case study chapters which deal with water governance in the Mekong Basin (Hirsch); hybrid adoption of water resource technologies in India (Barbanente et al.); determination of sediment dynamics in Java Rijdsdijk); and ecological conservation imperatives in the headwaters of the Yellow, Yangtze and Mekong rivers in western China (Li et al.).

Practice of Consumption and Spaces for Goods Francesca Murialdo 2013-04-17 The change in the significance of goods is a process which has triggered far-reaching changes in society as the term has lost any meaning in relation to its purely functional character and increasingly come to represent symbolic and cultural contents. The practice of consumption seems today to be one of the distinctive features by means of which we can describe the social, political and economic phenomenologies which, for better or worse, influence our lives. What becomes increasingly evident and necessary is the role of design culture as a structure for the coordination of the networks of knowledge, to interpret the world of things and design in order to influence behaviours, in the final analysis, bringing about the rise of new economies. The practice of consumption and the spaces for goods are in continuous evolution, constantly eluding typological and functional definition. One of the objectives of this research, besides an attempt to explore not only the spaces but also the practices of consumption from the designer's perspective, is to understand what mechanisms are at work, what competences, the roles which have impacted on, still impact on today and will continue to impact on this sector in the future.

Multidisciplinary Design of Sharing Services Maurizio Bruglieri 2018-04-17 This book explores all aspects of the sharing economy, pursuing a multidisciplinary approach encompassing Service Design, Spatial Design, Sociology, Economics, Law, and Transport and Operations Research. The book develops a unified vision of sharing services, and pinpoints the most important new challenges. The first, more theoretical part covers general topics from the perspectives of experts in the respective disciplines. Among the subjects addressed are the role of the user in co-design and co-production; impacts of sharing services on cities, communities, and private spaces; individual rewarding and social outcomes; regulatory issues; and the scope for improving the efficiency of design, management, and analysis of sharing services. In turn, the second part of the book presents a selection of case studies of specific sharing services, in which many of the concepts described in the first part are put into practice. Readers will gain a deeper understanding of the dynamics of sharing services and of the hidden problems that may arise. Key factors responsible for the success (or failure) of sharing services are identified by analyzing some of the best (and worst) practices. Given its breadth of coverage, the book offers a valuable guide for researchers and for all stakeholders in the sharing economy, including startup founders and local administrators.

L'associarsi quotidiano Sebastiano Citroni 2022-11-11T00:00:00+01:00 Che cosa fanno i cittadini quando fondano o partecipano a un'associazione? E, ancora prima, che cosa possono fare? Queste le domande di partenza del volume di Sebastiano Citroni sulla quotidianità dell'associazionismo. A partire da un'indagine etnografica, che restituisce concretezza al vissuto dei protagonisti e alla specificità delle pratiche, vengono analizzati la diffusione di nuove forme d'impegno civico a livello individuale, il crescente peso dell'organizzazione di eventi nel repertorio d'azione degli enti di terzo settore e la contrattualizzazione dei loro rapporti con enti pubblici e privati finanziatori. Per ciascuna di queste trasformazioni, i risultati di ricerca mostrano come gli stili associativi filtrino e "metaforizzino" nella vita quotidiana di gruppo i fattori generali di contesto nell'ambito dei quali l'azione civica prende forma. La ricerca etnografica condotta da Citroni invita così ad abbandonare ogni facile retorica sulla neo-liberalizzazione del terzo settore e mostra quanto la sua azione come società civile si dispieghi anche sul piano ordinario degli stili dell'associarsi quotidiano e del loro potere istituzionale.

Montages Cristina Baldacci 2018-09-18T00:00:00+02:00 Montage, today, is a widespread procedure that doesn't concern just artistic production, but also our daily lives and the use everyone makes of that huge visual archive that contemporary media place at our disposal. In a technologically advanced society, where the notion of postproduction regulates our relationship with images and objects, it is therefore necessary to thoroughly investigate the role, possibilities, and, most of all, anthropological and political connotations of montage; and to ask ourselves whether - in comparison to the heroic years of the avant-garde movements - montage has become a faded and standardized practice or if it is a more and more effective means to understand and reprogramme the world, especially in relation to the technical possibilities offered by new media and remix practices.

La distanza sociale: Una ricerca nelle aree urbane italiane Vincenzo Cesareo 2007 Questo volume è il primo di una collana che presenta i principali risultati di uno studio pluriennale condotto in sette aree urbane italiane sul tema della distanza sociale. Viene riproposto un concetto classico della sociologia, appunto quello di distanza sociale, nella convinzione che all'interno del consolidato bagaglio concettuale delle scienze sociali sia possibile reperire strumenti di analisi tuttora indispensabili alla comprensione della vita contemporanea. Il recupero del concetto di distanza sociale ha peraltro richiesto, per poterlo calare nella realtà attuale, un lavoro non solo di profonda rivisitazione ma anche di parziale ridefinizione a livello sia teorico sia metodologico, con un'importante opera di aggiornamento degli strumenti e delle tecniche che consentono la sua rilevazione. L'ancoraggio alla tradizione e l'impegno per il suo aggiornamento costituiscono due importanti elementi attraverso cui questa ricerca prova a superare, sia rispetto ai contenuti sia rispetto alla metodologia e alla costruzione del complessivo disegno di ricerca, il mainstream della sociologia contemporanea. A questi due elementi se ne aggiunge un terzo, rappresentato dal contesto all'interno del quale si è deciso di condurre l'indagine, vale a dire alcune importanti aree urbane italiane.
