Sexual Authenticity Melinda Selmys 2009-04-06 Real glimpses into the hearts and lives of other people are rare... Columnist and author Melinda Selmys gives readers an unusual opportunity to explore the topic of homosexuality and the Catholic Faith from a fresh, sincere perspective. Her intensely personal reflections help clarify the misconceptions that have hindered meaningful dialogue between Catholics and homosexuals. Transcending stereotypes and avoiding pat sentiments, she speaks directly to every Christian who has experienced same-sex attraction or knows someone who has. In addition to her personal story of exchanging secular lesbianism for Catholicism and resolving her own inner conflicts, the author presents an enlightening analysis of history, social theory, and media influence on the subject of homosexuality. She refutes much of the clumsy theorizing and "junk science" common to both sides of the debate, effectively bridging gaps between perception and reality. Selmys addresses the complexities surrounding sexual identity with pronounced compassion, adding a practical discussion of the Theology of the Body to complete the circle from a Catholic perspective. This groundbreaking book expertly walks the fine line between divisiveness and platitudes -- a must-read for everyone who has ever felt ambiguous about the Church's stance on homosexuality.

Brass Cheek--The Sex Films of Tinto Brass Jon Abbott 2018-02-07 120 pages / color / adult content For thirty years he was the undisputed king of Italian erotic cinema. They call him Il Maestro. He loved life, lust, and women, and saw no reason to apologise for it. He fought fascism and censorship from both the left and the right in all its forms. And he is a true artist and filmmaker. During the 1980s and '90s, and into the 2000s, some of Italy's most beautiful women queued up to work with him, from award-winning mainstream actresses to models and gymnasts. Brass Cheek presents over sixty pages devoted to his films, from the fascinating failure of the notorious Caligula to his final 2006 feature Mon Amour, and including his entire output between, from the dark shadows of The Key and Black Angel to the more lighter, frothy fare, such as Frivolous Lola and Cheeky. Supporting features include a visual round-up of Italy's sleazy fumetti paperbacks, cheap comic strip porn ranging from swashbuckling pirates to gangsters, sci-fi, jungle heroes and vampires, a chapter on the infamous and ground-breaking Last Tango in Paris, and a look at the political erotica of the envelope-pushing directors Walerian Borowczyk and Miklos Jancso. Please note: The text in this book previously appeared in the author's earlier 700 page Strange New World: Sex Films of the 1970s, now available on Amazon.

The Chronicles of the Pharaoh's Daughter Davina Rhine 2012-08 The Chronicles of the Pharaoh's Daughter presents a passionate, ironic, and symbolic collection of poems that blends antiquity, history, memory, reincarnation, wealth, poverty, sex, love, life, birth, and afterlife. Poet Davina Rhine shares a tormented adventure lamenting the loss of her idealized father and recalling the grudging acceptance of a woman's experience in domesticity, mundane work, and child-rearing. This confessional poet, torn by grief, erotica, responsibility, mature love, and dreams, goes from sinner to forgiver in the course of the collection. Unlike other confessionals, her journey in dreams and everyday life does not end in misery, but in rapture both strong and defiant as she is resurrected. The clashing metaphors of the past and present take us all over the ancient world and into the heart of modern love; the journey begins with an act of vengeance for the women raped at the birth of Rome. Rhine explores the sacred, the vulgar, and the human experience as her poems explode into sharp, dizzying shards of emotion and drama. The Chronicles of the Pharaoh's Daughter is a collection that exhales classical archaeology while reinventing the past with the vigor and vision of a strong, defiant activist and writer.

The Fruit Machine Thomas Waugh 2000-04-04 For more than twenty years, film critic, teacher, activist, and fan Thomas Waugh has been writing about queer movies. As a member of the Jump Cut collective and contributor to the Toronto-based gay newspaper the Body Politic, he emerged in the late 1970s as a pioneer in gay film theory and criticism, and over the next two decades solidified his reputation as one of the most important and influential gay film critics. The Fruit Machine—a collection of Waugh's reviews and articles originally published in gay community tabloids, academic journals, and anthologies—charts the emergence and maturation of Waugh's critical sensibilities while lending an important historical perspective to the growth of film theory and criticism as well as queer moviemaking. In this wide-ranging anthology Waugh touches on some of the great films of the gay canon, from Taxi zum Klo to Kiss of the Spider Woman. He also discusses obscure guilty pleasures like Born a Man . . . Let Me Die a Woman, unexpectedly rich movies like Porky's and Caligula, filmmakers such as Fassbinder and Eisenstein, and film personalities from Montgomery Clift to Patty Duke. Emerging from the gay liberation movement of the 1970s, Waugh traverses crises from censorship to AIDS, tackling mainstream potboilers along with art movies, documentaries, and avant-garde erotic videos. In these personal perspectives on the evolving cinematic landscape, his words oscillate from anger and passion to wry wit and irony. With fifty-nine rare film stills and personal photographs and an introduction by celebrated gay filmmaker John Greyson, this volume demonstrates that the movie camera has been the fruit machine par excellence.

Palatine Pleasure Jacinta Carey 2022-01-04 Rome, Summer, 40 AD Florentina, a virtuous Roman noblewoman, is sent to Caligula's brothel on the Palatine Hill by her new husband Paulinus. He tells Florentina she needs to learn how to please him in bed like a 'real woman' or prostitute, or else he'll divorce and abandon her. Flora is horrified at the thought of servicing the patrons, but she also wonders what it would be like to have the kind of sexual power other women seem to possess. She longs to bring every man to his knees at her feet. Eager to not be cast off by Paulinus because she's desperate to have a child of her own, she admits why she's there to the 'pimp', and asks for lessons on how to become an alluring seductress. Lucian, the tax collector at the brothel, is heartily sick of the place. He sees himself as little better than a pimp, helping Caligula humiliate the Roman nobles and their wives. He soon learns Flora's whole sorry tale, and takes pity on her. He offers to help her become one of the most desired women in Rome, and all without laying a finger on her. What starts out as a game soon becomes an erotic torment for Lucian. All of his good intentions begin to crumble as he starts to fall in love with the beautiful Flora. How can he claim to want to help empower her so she can live on her own terms, when all he wants to do is possess her, body and soul? The pleasure they share leaves them both almost mindless with need, forcing them to choose: to obey the strict conventions of Roman society, or give in to the passion and pleasure they share before they're torn away from each other forever. Sensuality Rating This romance novel contains multiple explicit love scenes between the hero and heroine. It is for mature audiences only. Word Count=80,427 About the Author Jacinta Carey is the author of the popular Starbuck Saga series of historical romances, The Ravishing Romans series, the Wild Heart series, and The Gordons of Gretna series. She majored in English, History and Classics at college. She loves to cook for her huge family, and adores cats. +++ A Note from the Author One of the best things about writing this book and series as a whole was just how similar our own modern world actually is to the ancient Roman one in many respects. Falling in love is universal, no matter the time, place, and culture. Almost all of our Western traditions related to weddings actually come from Ancient Rome! So escape from streaming and social media, to the sensuality of Roman baths, luxurious foods and fabrics, and the vivid connection between two lovers who never have to text each other.... Fun Fact The Palatine Hill was the richest and most exclusive area to live in Ancient Rome. It's where we get the word 'palace' from.

Her Centurion Master Part 2 J.M. Wyatt 2015-03-16 Her Centurion Master Part 2: Roman Slave is an erotic FF, MF, domination story of 10,000 words. Being flung back in time to ancient Rome is more terrifying than thrilling for high school senior Mira Larril. The centurion she counted on to save her from barbarians and worse has disappeared, and she's been claimed by a high-ranking Roman Praetor as his slave. Though the Praetor's son is handsome and used to getting what he wants, she still craves the touch of her lost centurion. Will she ever see him again? "The young man looked Mira up and down, moving only his eyes, and smiled hungrily. His voice was rich velvet, "Thank you, dear father and honored Praetor. All of Rome rejoices at your return from Caligula's wars in Germania." He added, looking at Mira, "Tonight we will throw a lavish party in celebration, and be sure to enjoy ourselves to the fullest." Mira swallowed, a hand clutching the fabric of her tunic." This short story contains explicit sexual content (lesbian sex, bondage, penetration, domination, BDSM, Roman orgy) and graphic language that may be objectionable to some readers. For adults only.

Beasts in the Cellar John Hamilton 2005 Tony Tenser has an unrivalled position as the godfather of low budget British films. By drawing on exclusive interviews, original production files and private correspondence, John Hamilton pieces together the stories behind the movies that made Tenser the most admired and successful exploitation producer in British cinema. Sacred Landscapes in Antiquity Ralph Haussler 2020-07-31 From generation to generation, people experience their landscapes differently. Humans depend on their natural environment: it shapes their behavior while it is often felt that deities responsible for both natural benefits and natural calamities (such as droughts, famines, floods and landslides) need to be appeased. We presume that, in many societies, lakes, rivers, rocks, mountains, caves and groves were considered sacred. Individual sites and entire landscapes are often associated with divine actions, mythical heroes and etiological myths. Throughout human history, people have also felt the need to monumentalize their sacred landscape. But this is where the similarities end as different societies had very different understandings, beliefs and practices. The aim of this new thematic appraisal is to scrutinize carefully our evidence and rethink our methodologies in a multi-disciplinary approach. More than 30 papers investigate diverse sacred landscapes from the Iberian peninsula and Britain in the west to China in the east. They discuss how to interpret the intricate web of ciphers and symbols in the landscape and how people might have experienced it. We see the role of performance, ritual, orality, textuality and memory in people's sacred landscapes. A diachronic view allows us to study how landscapes were 'rewritten', adapted and redefined in the course of time to suit new cultural, political and religious understandings, not to mention the impact of urbanism on people's understandings. A key question is how was the landscape manipulated, transformed and monumentalized - especially the colossal investments in monumental architecture we see in certain socio-historic contexts or the creation of an alternative humanmade, seemingly 'non-natural' landscape, with perfectly astronomically aligned buildings that define a cosmological order? Sacred Landscapes therefore aims to analyze the complex links between landscape, 'religiosity' and society, developing a dialectic framework that explores sacred landscapes across the ancient world in a dynamic, holistic, contextual and historical perspective.

The Satyricon Petronius 1983-11-01 "This version by a translator who understands the high art of low humor is conspicuously funny."—Time The Satyricon is a classic of comedy, a superbly funny picture of Nero's Rome as seen through the eyes of Petronius, its most amorous and elegant courtier. William Arrowsmith's translation—a lively, modern, unexpurgated text—recaptures all the ribald humor of Petronius's picaresque satire. It tells the hilarious story of the pleasure-seeking adventures of an educated rogue, Encolpius, his handsome serving boy, Giton, and Ascyltus, who lusts after Giton—three impure pilgrims who live by their wits and other men's purses. The Satyricon unflinchingly turns every weakness of the flesh, every foible of the mind, to laughter.

Palatine Pretense Jacinta Carey 2021-12-29 Rome, 40 AD Aurora, a virginal young noblewoman, goes to Emperor Caligula's new brothel on the Palatine Hill in order to be 'ruined' so she doesn't have to go through with the awful arranged marriage her father is trying to force her into. She's certain she can find a kind man willing to rescue her from her dire fate by playing along with her pretense. Quintus is sick of his lonely life. His secrets prevent him from ever winning his heart's desire: A woman who loves him for himself, not just his important family and vast wealth. He goes to the Palatine brothel hoping to find a woman with enough compassion to understand his sensual nature and aching need. The meeting between innocent Aurora and world-weary Quintus is earth-shattering for both on every level. The physical and mental connection between them is so erotic, Aurora starts to think the unthinkable: To not just pretend to be ruined, but to become Quin's lover in every way. As their pretense moves from role-play to reality, their love grows with every kiss and caress. But soon their enemies begin to plot against Aurora to separate the young lovers forever. Aurora discovers the shocking truth about the real reasons for the arranged marriage. As the net closes around Aurora, can Quin save the love of his life before it's too late? TransAntiquity Domitilla Campanile 2017-02-03 TransAntiquity explores transgender practices, in particular cross-dressing, and their literary and figurative representations in antiquity. It offers a ground-breaking study of cross-dressing, both the social practice and its conceptualization, and its interaction with normative prescriptions on gender and sexuality in the ancient Mediterranean world. Special attention is paid to the reactions of the societies of the time, the impact transgender practices had on individuals' symbolic and social capital, as well as the reactions of institutionalized power and the juridical systems. The variety of subjects and approaches demonstrates just how complex and widespread "transgender dynamics" were in antiquity.

This homage to his fascinating career includes his earliest avant-garde films like Who Works is Lost (1963); the western Yankee (1966) and the giallo Deadly Sweet (1967); experimental arthouse films Attraction (1968) and The Howl (1969), including the hard-to-be-seen Dropout (1970) and Vacation (1971) with Franco Nero and Vanessa Redgrave to the decidedly derrière-obsessed fetishism of his later work, including Paprika (1991), All Ladies Do It (1992), The Voyeur (1994), Frivolous Lola (1998), and Cheeky!
